

Scholars Unlimited

Dynamic programs that inspire young learners.

Scholars Unlimited has provided out-of-school time programs for elementary-aged children at NO COST since 1993!

Our Mission is to foster academic, social, and emotional growth for children living in low-income communities around metro Denver.

You make an immediate impact. Our scholars are remarkable individuals, and your support helps us build on their existing strengths. You expand their opportunity to have the highest quality programming, delivered by caring, dedicated professionals.

Our no cost out-of-school programming expands beyond academic support to promote positive youth development. Our scholars are encouraged to use their voices and agency to make choices as they explore new interests and discover new passions.

Our programs offer a well designed range of activities that spark imagination and inspire a passion for learning. Our commitment is to provide fun, engaging literacy tutoring and strong social-emotional support.

Volunteer and join in the fun after school or during the summer. Give our scholars the chance to meet you and show them first hand how much members of our community care about their success.

How it all started: A volunteer from Park Hill and a school principal began our first summer literacy program for 20 students in 1993.

How far we've come: To date, we have served over 30,000 students.

Dynamic programs that inspire young learners.

The pandemic is just one example of what our young people are living through. In real time, they experience all that is happening in the world, including racial and social injustices, systemic poverty, and growing up in marginalized communities - and they rise!

Our scholars are bright and poised to do great things; together, we celebrate their resilience and we support them as they thrive.

Our families deserve access to the resources and support necessary to thrive: This includes safe and nurturing environments for children to spend time outside of school so parents may work with peace of mind and the engaging academic instruction children need to become successful learners.

Our devoted staff bring a wealth of life and community experience to provide a well-rounded learning environment. Our small group dynamic allows our dedicated, licensed staff to be aware of and meet students' individual needs. To be strong, balanced leaders, we invest in robust professional development for our staff. Our professionals continue to grow and learn, which models the same expectations we encourage in our scholars.
